- HealthShare Unified Care Record version 2020.2

To Drummond Group:

The Unified Care Record may be optionally configured to support two-factor authentication log-in, which adds a one-time code sent via SMS text message to the user's mobile phone during the standard username/password login.

Each Unified Care Record user provides the name of their mobile phone provider and a mobile phone number where they can receive SMS texts messages. When a user logs in to Unified Care Record with their username and password, a customer-designated SMTP server (not part of the Unified Care Record solution) sends an email containing a unique code to the SMS email gateway of the mobile phone provider, where it is converted into a text message. This text message is then transmitted to the user's mobile phone and the user enters the code at the prompt on Unified Care Record to complete the two-factor authentication.
